

SOUTH CHINA SEA

South China Sea is very important to food security of China and must remain under control of China. They have green light on military bases and man made Islands. China is dependent on others for its food and fuel and without others can not survive. China is most populated nation on planet earth. China must be able to continuously transfer food and fuel from other regions of the world while deterring their cargo from opposing military forces and currently only through south China sea it is possible. It is important to remind America is in Japan and South Korea with overwhelming naval force and can block China. Thus only direction China can rely on for food and fuel delivery is south China sea. China must carry military exercise more frequently. China must like previous years invite Russia to these exercises. They must practice together and have means of communication and shared command and control. Iran is also good addition for next joint military exercise. As NATO is absorbing more countries and stepping closer to Russia and Brazil. There is a need for counter balance.

These military exercises must be held in South China Sea and as well as East Coast of China. But remember American signal intelligence and radar systems will learn to identify stealth jets if there are too much fly over them. As China can learn about stealth of American Air Force every time they hold military exercise in South Korea. Another important thing to remember is China's need to be able to transit ^{Makan Abazari food} through Pacific sea from Brazil because East and South Africa are under periodic weather warfare and Brazil could be only source of food for China. Remember America already has killed as much as population of India South East Asia and China by weather warfare in Middle East, Central Asia and North Africa. Thus a great cooperation at global scale is needed and every American military opposition must see total humiliation. South China sea will be Chinese control.

China itself ~~is~~ is under weather warfare effect in Tibbet & Inner Mongolias and North west and in these dry regions can not produce food. Its ports Industry have been destroyed several times by storms and other means of sabotage. Thus every attempt China makes at food independence is seriously targetted. China must remember fishing is one of the choices but American military may obstruct. Another choice is land corridor to middle East & Russia and South East & South Asia to have rail and road transit deliver food from other regions of the world to China. Population is so high in China and these regions the scale of fishing is not sufficient. There salt Rice to grow using sea water developed in China. China can also farm for ashes and lava coming out of Indonesia volcano. These will be washed and dumped into sea by rain but they can be actively collected and used as fertilizers. America is dangerous and we must consider all means of sabotage as possible contradiction by America.

China has been already under attack by weather warfare since there was already an era when they ate skin of trees and barely survived before repopulating the earth. Back then there was also industrial scale whale hunt which used to produce large source of food for people in many regions of the world. There was also other means. Let me open books of Moses. There is also algae which can be used to produce oil instead of Biofuels. Algae can be used to produce fat and act as food producing factories. There are also Iranian method of raising fish in pools in deserts. There is also other methods of fishing from deep sea by different means. There is also Islam allowing eating carrion flesh if there is a need for it. We can even feed pigs and boars the fertilizer fertilizer carrion flesh and even dead people and have pig parity as much as possible and feed the population their meat. Yeah human history is cruel. Another method is also having roots with a crown and soil acting like sun flower and turning toward sun and root of metropolitan high rises being farms which change location and tilt toward sun. There is also hubs which capture energy of sun and don't let energy escape and can be used to farm in winter. There are also nuclear reactors with massive cooling system which constantly purities water just to cool down and in order to escape thermodynamic limitation secondary cooling water goes through salt water by pipe before going to lake. As we produce power we purify and desalting water

There are means to produce food but will we be ready when time comes or we need to call on nuclear warheads against American weather warfare? The important point right now is to focus on secondary objective and forming farming industry with parked farming capabilities, tractors and machineries across Africa, India, China, South America, Middle East, Russia, and Europe.

I heard Europe may go into mini ice age. But it is not certainly the case depends on many things. By the way

I used my weather warfare on America and forced them to return the rain to Middle East and Central Asia but I don't have up date concerning rest of Earth.

See I have weather codes to cast USA (like Satan) into lake of Fire for thousand years. It is being used to bring rain to rest of the earth and feed the land with water but I have capability to turn USA into lake of lava. Not even ~~the~~ trace of Human activity will remain in USA if used. The farming industry. Yes it can be activated where ever the weather warfare is not affecting.

America hits Kenya we go to Zimbabwe and constantly will produce food in regions not affected by weather warfare.

Yes but America is not allowing rain in Sistan and Baluchistan region of Iran and I still need rain in these regions so substantial to revive the earth and bring back the population. But America is not returning rains to South East Iran to cause division between Iran and Pakistan. Iran also kicked out Pakistanis out of the country. Anyway it was a mistake we want Pakistanis to come and we want people integration. Let's go back to south China sea and food and energy security of China. Yes there is rail way system CPEC from China to Baluchistan and it can be extended to Iranian ports. It gives China short cut if south China sea is taken by USA. There is another one from NATANZ-Badkub to China going through Afghanistan all the way to China. This one belongs to my ^{Sisiljiblu} family but needs repair. Trains can deliver cargo using coal but China still needs petroleum security which also needs planning then there are other regions of the Earth. we need a calculated plan.

Then there is also issue of trade and large sum of Chinese and supply chain products which go through this region. practically the south China sea is most important along with mediterranean and red sea being absolute top of the list. As you can see the mediterranean is destroyed by weather warfare and red sea has experienced history of thousand genocide but when you ask people remember only

Vietnam war. Vietnam means white washed name and was most likely fought somewhere else and later the south China sea country of Vietnam took credit for it. But there was other wars wiped from history and we must remember America keeps superiority by weather warfare, repeated Genocides, preemptive Genocides and has been involved in so many dark crimes. Anyway, south China sea must remain Chinese control and further militarized.

Makan Abazari The King of King

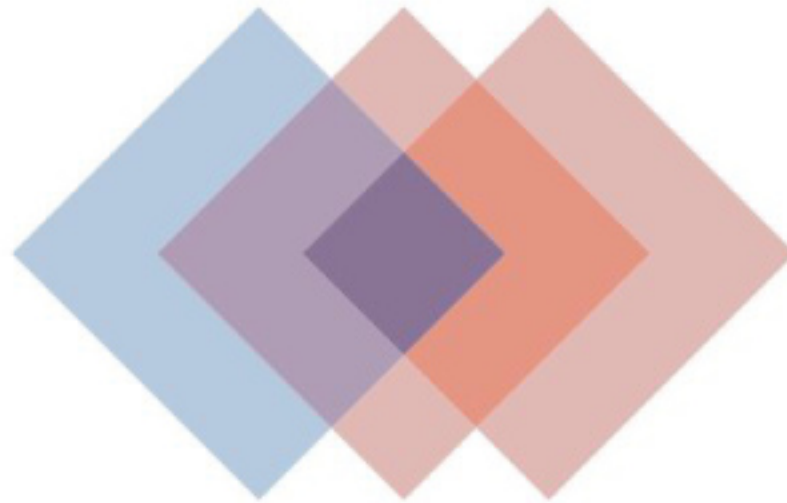

So South China sea remains Chinese military occupied for transits and fuel security then we develop Chinese transits via land through Central Asia, Pakistan and other regions to Iran and from there to elsewhere in the earth. We also need Tunnels from Hormozgan Iran to Dubai and from Eden (Aden) to Djibouti we also need tunnel from Istanbul to European Istanbul we cannot risk tunnels open to bombing and sabotage rather we need under sea bed tunnels connecting these regions. I want land Transit from China to Strait of Hormuz and from there to Cameroon and South Africa. This is very important for security of Earth as America is absolute superpower at the seas and no one can come close to confronting them. There is employing Russians who spent last decade developing naval forces and use Chinese scale of manufacturing to develop industrial scale Naval Force manufacturing. We can follow all these path ways. Iran also needs to gain capability to stealthy strike from Nuclear submarines and it is very important for security of Earth and crossroads.
